Welcome to Algonquin Territory

Kwey Kwey, She:kon, Taanshi, Tunngasugit,

Carleton University acknowledges the location of its campus on the traditional, unceded territories of the Algonquin nation. In doing so, Carleton acknowledges it has a responsibility to the Algonquin People and to adhere to Algonquin cultural protocols.

Honouring our relations

Algonquin People have lived in what is now known as the Ottawa Valley for thousands of years. Long before Canadian confederation, the founding of the city of Ottawa and the establishment of Carleton, Algonquin People were caring for these lands just as they continue to do today.

As part of Carleton's commitment to nurture mutually respectful relationships with Algonquin People, many partnerships exist between the university and neighbouring Indigenous communities. The communities of Kitigan Zibi Anishinabeg and the Algonquins of Pikwakanagan have played critical roles in developing strategies for supporting Indigenous students at Carleton, and in guiding policy and program initiatives.

The Kinàmàgawin Report: Increasing Indigenous support and success

Carleton's comprehensive Kinàmàgawin Report commits Carleton to fulfilling 41 Calls to Action in order to increase Indigenous student enrolment, supports and success.

This important publication is a comprehensive strategy for ensuring that Indigenous perspectives, traditional knowledge, teaching and learning practices are present within classrooms.

In June 2022, Carleton released its Kinàmàgawin Progress Report, showcasing the collective work that has been undertaken to address the 41 Calls in Action in the original report.

As Carleton continues to learn from and welcome Indigenous Peoples to our campus, we understand that these important relationships will benefit future generations. Together, we will create a future empowered by our collective past.

Welcome to Carleton University

Taanshi and Welcome!

On behalf of our team at the Centre for Indigenous Support and Community Engagement, I would like to welcome you to the Carleton community.

As you are thinking about attending university, you likely have a number of questions. This is particularly true if you are a first generation post-secondary student or the first in your family to attend university. The process can be overwhelming at times, and this is why our team is here — to help you navigate that process, and find the answers to your questions.

Each year we welcome over 600 First Nation, Métis and Inuit students to our Indigenous community on campus. Our team serves to connect you, the student, with Indigenous faculty and staff who can support you on your learning journey. Repeatedly, we have seen that students who are connected to our Centre have better outcomes in both academic success and overall health and wellbeing. So don't be stranger! Come, say hello, and let us help you start making connections! Let's learn from each other and journey together for the next four years.

Kaawaapamitin,

Benny Michaud (she/they/him)

Director, Centre for Indigenous Support and Community Engagement

Kwey Kakina, Mino Piimaadziwin

We have just come through one of the most challenging years of our lifetime. Yet, you are all here, ready to take on this post-secondary journey. You may not even be aware, but you are stronger and more ready for this than you realize.

Indigenous People who know their culture understand they are never alone. There are seven generations of ancestors who walk with you each day. I want you all to know: I believe in you. More importantly, I want you to believe in yourself. We are going to step forward, rise up and create the best learning journey for ourselves this year.

We are not alone, we can do it together.

With respect,

Kokum Barbara Dumont-Hill

Centre for Indigenous Support and Community Engagement

The Centre for Indigenous Support and Community Engagement at Carleton offers an open and safe space for all to experience and enjoy.

Find support here

Our Centre supports students, staff and faculty at Carleton by providing culturally safe spaces for dialogue and learning. We do this by nurturing a sense of belonging for Indigenous students and by developing and delivering resources and training to educate the Carleton community about the experiences, histories and worldviews of Indigenous Peoples.

Helping students to maintain health and wellbeing is critical to the work that we do. Our workshops and events support students' physical, mental, emotional and spiritual wellbeing. This means affirming the experiences of Two-Spirit/LGBTQ people and ensuring the spaces we maintain are safe and inclusive.

It is said that the longest journey is from the head to the heart — our goal at the Centre for Indigenous Support and Community Engagement is to serve as helpers along the way.

Our work is guided by our deep connection with ancestral teachings and our recognition of the Algonquin People within whose territory our office is located. For more information about all we do, visit carleton.ca/indigenous/cisce.

"As an institution, Carleton is very open to integrating the perspectives of Algonquin communities in its initiatives and is working towards reconciliation. A large part of my role at the Centre is to ensure that Algonquin perspectives are heard and reflected across the university. This is important work because it helps incoming and current Indigenous Carleton students feel represented and supported, and each member of our team is truly invested in helping our students break down any barriers they may have. If you're an Indigenous student whose path is leading towards Carleton, I strongly encourage you to connect with us at the Centre, come in and say hi, and check out the many resources available to you here."

Ojigkwanong Indigenous Student Centre

The Ojigkwanong Indigenous Student Centre is the heartbeat of the Indigenous community on campus. It is a student lounge where First Nations, Métis and Inuit students can study, socialize and participate in academic and cultural programming. It features a medicine lodge, kitchenette, lounge area, study space, computer lab and telephone booth.

The centre is located at 228 Paterson Hall and is open from Monday to Friday. More information about this space can be found through carleton.ca/indigenous/cisce.

"As a deaf Indigenous student who uses American Sign Language, I was nervous to start university. Within the first week, I joined an orientation event at the Ojigkwanong Centre. The Centre welcomed me warmly and I met so many like-minded Indigenous students and staff. They have so many support services and provide a safe space for all of us."

Paula Robyn MacDonald, Pasqua First Nation, Saulteaux Cree, Indigenous and Canadian Studies student

"The Carleton community has been so welcoming to me as an Inuk student. I've been a part of the Indigenous students' community since 2016 and have met so many amazing students and faculty in lectures, at the Ojigkwanong Centre and around campus. There has been work done to educate professors on Inuit history which made integration into their classrooms smooth. The centre has also done on-the-ground work in educating themselves with Inuit traditional practices to include in student programming. I would recommend Carleton to all of my Inuit colleagues who wish to pursue post-secondary education."

Our team strives to support students holistically, offering supports that will ensure students not only succeed academically, but also feel connected to their culture, build close relationships with other Indigenous students and staff, and are supported in their mental, physical, emotional and spiritual well-being."

"I was very grateful to be taken into the Indigenous Enriched Support Program after being out of school for a very long time. Everyone from the administrators to the facilitators has been really supportive and I feel welcome in the program. The whole experience has given me a sense of hope and optimism about my future."

Living in residence

If you want to experience university life as a member of a vibrant, close-knit community, consider living in residence. You'll meet people from around the world, make friendships that last a lifetime, and will benefit from living only minutes away from your classes, the library, athletics and a large dining hall.

Every year, more than 3,600 students choose to live in residence. For many students, choosing to live on campus is one of the best decisions they make.

First-year guarantee

A double traditional room is guaranteed to all secondary school and CÉGEP students entering first-year studies in the fall, provided they receive an offer of admission on or before May 12, 2023. You are required to pay the deposit and accept the residence offer online by June 8, 2023, at 4:30 p.m. ET to confirm your space. If you do not qualify for a guaranteed space in residence, you can still apply. A lottery determines offers for all other residence applications. housing.carleton.ca/future-residents/apply-to-residence

What does residence offer?

Campus connections

Our residence buildings are conveniently located and connected to each other, and to the rest of campus, via underground tunnels, enabling you to get to class, meals or workouts within minutes. You'll find it easy to arrange meetings with friends, study partners or professors.

Two living styles

Our residences offer two types of rooms — traditional and suite-style rooms. Traditional rooms consist of one or two beds with shared washroom facilities, the majority of which are double rooms. A limited number of traditional-style rooms are in pods. The pods consist of doubles and singles, a washroom facility and shared common area.

Our suite-style rooms consist of four-person suites, either two doubles or four singles, with a shared common area, washroom facility and food preparation area including a fridge and microwave.

The majority of our rooms for students entering first year are double traditional-style and are assigned as single-gender. A limited number of traditional singles, suite doubles and suite singles are available.

Roommates are an integral component of the Carleton residence life experience. You can request a specific person (who also must request you in order to be placed together) or be matched with another student based on the responses you provide on the Residence Information Form. Sharing a residence room can be an enriching and supportive experience as you transition into university life, and may even lead to life-long friendship.

Gender-inclusive living

Students selecting this option will have their room, pod and/or suitemates assigned through the matching of profile questions on the Residence Information Form regardless of the gender with which they identify. Please note that if you select “yes,” you are agreeing to share a room (and bathroom, etc.) with a student who may identify with a different gender than the one with which you identify.

All Access Meal Plan

First-year students living in residence will be enrolled in the All Access Meal Plan, which provides unlimited entry into our residence dining hall, the caf, and $100 Dining Dollars. For students living in suite-style residences, there is a Reduced Meal Plan option, which offers ten meals per week and $300 Dining Dollars. The caf sources food locally, accommodates dietary needs and offers an “all you care to eat” experience featuring a variety of meals cooked right in front of you. housing.carleton.ca/fees-and-food

Get involved

Living in residence is a great way to learn and gain experience outside of the classroom. There are several ways you can do this, including volunteering as a Mental Health Champion, visiting the Raven’s Roost and participating in events, programs and committees in and around residence. housing.carleton.ca/get-involved

An extensive support network

Embarking on a new chapter in life, especially when living on your own for the first time, can take some getting used to. Carleton’s award-winning Residence Life program has been designed to help with this transition so you can reach your academic and personal goals. Our extensive residence support network includes residence counsellors, live-in residence staff and a focus on learning outside the classroom. housing.carleton.ca/living-in-residence

Cost

Fees for traditional residence for 2022-2023 range from $11,775 (double occupancy) to $12,999 (single occupancy) and cover the cost of your room, communication fees and an All Access Meal Plan. Suite-style residences range from $13,089 (double occupancy) to $14,391 (single occupancy) with an All Access Meal Plan. Detailed information about the cost of residence is available at housing.carleton.ca/fees-and-food.

"During my three years at Carleton, I have had the pleasure of learning from both students and faculty. Despite being so far away from home, Carleton has always made me feel at home. Whether that be through clubs, or services, I have always been provided with the support I required to be successful. Through services provided at the Centre for Indigenous Support and Community Engagement and Ojigkwanong, I have become increasingly close to my cultural roots, while also becoming more connected to a diverse and abundant Indigenous community at Carleton."

Awards for Students with Disabilities

There are several awards and financial aid options available to incoming and current students with a permanent disability who are registered with the Paul Menton Centre (PMC). carleton.ca/awards/awards-for-students-with-disabilities.

Working on campus

A great way to offset the expense of university is to have a part-time job on campus. At Carleton, most campus units hire students throughout the academic year. Senior students can often find positions with departments as research assistants. A part-time job not only puts extra money in your pocket but also provides valuable job experience at the same time. Visit carleton.ca/career to check out online job postings.

Why self-identify as an Indigenous student?

Self-identifying is highly recommended, as specific information about Indigenous awards and financial assistance, referrals to support services, access to cultural spaces and activities and more will be provided to you. When you self-identify as an Indigenous person, it benefits others by building a sense of community among Indigenous learners at Carleton. You can self-identify on your OUAC application or through Carleton's Centre for Indigenous Support and Community Engagement.

Admission requirements

All admission information should be used as a guide only. Programs have limited enrolment and cut-off averages may vary from year to year. In determining admissibility, Carleton reserves the right to take into account repeated courses, grades in specific subjects, and other aspects of the student's academic record.

High school students

For admission requirements by degree program, view the Ontario admission requirements in this document. High school students in Canada (excluding Ontario) can supplement this information with the provincial requirements included in this document.

English language test scores

Students presenting the following English language test scores may be eligible for an offer of admission with no ESL requirement and may begin full-time studies.

Ontario college students

Students from Ontario Colleges with a CGPA of 3.0 or higher are normally considered for admission after completing the first year of a two or three-year diploma program.

University students

Courses completed at another university may be eligible for transfer credit, depending on their applicability to the program to which you have applied and your final grade.

Prerequisite courses

Prerequisite courses are necessary requirements for admission to particular programs. Prerequisite course marks are included in the average calculated for admission. If any prerequisites are not available at your school, please contact Admissions Services for possible alternative requirements.

Advanced placement (AP)

Applicants who have completed AP exams with a minimum grade of 4 will be granted appropriate advanced standing credit, subject to the discretion of the appropriate faculty, to a maximum of 3.0 credits.

International baccalaureate (IB)

If you are enrolled in an IB diploma program, you will need the full IB (three subsidiary and three higher-level subjects), with a minimum of 28 points. Please note some programs are more competitive and will require higher scores. You must also have a grade of 4 or better in prerequisite subjects. IB students may be awarded advanced standing (transfer) credit for higher-level subjects with a grade of 5 or better, subject to the discretion of the appropriate faculty, to a maximum of 3.0 credits.

Admission with an ESL requirement

The language of instruction at Carleton University is English. In their own interest, students whose first language is not English must demonstrate that they can cope with the language demands of an English language university. Students can demonstrate their English language proficiency by presenting official transcripts to indicate that they have studied for the last three years (full-time) in a high school, college or university in Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom or any other country in which the primary language is English and where the language of instruction in the relevant educational institution was exclusively English. Students choosing this option should note the following:

- time spent in ESL courses will not count towards meeting these requirements;
- language requirements will not be waived as a result of completing senior-level high school English courses;
- if a student provides an English language test score, in addition to evidence of three years of study, the university reserves the right to review the admissions decision; and
- the university reserves the right to request an English Language Proficiency test from any applicant regardless of their academic background.

Students who cannot demonstrate three full-time years in an English medium school as outlined above must present one of the English language test scores listed in the chart on this page. Students with a language test score below those listed may still be eligible for an Offer of Admission but with an English language requirement. Students admitted with an English language requirement will begin studies in our Foundation Program.

For more information on the language test score needed for an Offer of Admission with an English language requirement, go to admissions.carleton.ca/esl.

Please note that students beginning their studies with an English language requirement are not eligible for admission to the following programs:

- Architectural Studies
- Health Sciences
- Humanities
- Industrial Design
- Information Technology
- International Business
- Journalism
- Journalism and Humanities
- Media Production and Design
- Public Affairs and Policy Management

Helping you reach your goals

"Being a new person on campus can be overwhelming. When I first stepped into the role of Indigenous Initiatives Recruitment Coordinator at Carleton, the staff, faculty and greater Carleton community was so eager to help me and answer any questions I had along the way. I hope to be that guide to new First Nations, Inuit and Métis students at Carleton."

"There are going to be times where you feel like you don't belong, or you shouldn't be here. I know I felt that way. However, that is far from the truth. You do belong here; you should be here, and you will succeed. It does not matter how long it takes you. There is no rush or deadline for your degree, your journey is your own journey. Do it your way."

Rich history of culture and experience

Ottawa is home to seven of Canada's nine national museums, some of which include the Canadian Museum of History, the Canadian Science and Technology Museum, the National Gallery of Canada and the Canadian Museum of Nature. Enrich your studies and broaden your knowledge by visiting any one of these national institutions during your time at Carleton.

Unique landmarks and exceptional experiences

Both a UNESCO World Heritage Site and a National Historic Site of Canada, the Rideau Canal is a 202 km historic waterway that connects a series of beautiful lakes and rivers. You can explore this major attraction all year — along its banks and sidewalks, on its water and as a Skateway in the winter months.

The heart of downtown Ottawa

Discover endless opportunities for shopping, dining, arts and entertainment in Ottawa's historic ByWard Market. This bustling area of Ottawa is a great place to browse the outdoor farmers' market and artisan shops on the weekend, grab dinner with friends downtown on a Friday evening, or stroll the bustling streets and absorb the sights and sounds.

An entrepreneurial and global technology powerhouse

Ottawa boasts a vibrant entrepreneurial culture and is home to Kanata North, Canada's largest Technology Park, a global technology hub with over 1,900 companies. Carleton's innovation ecosystem thrives because of our many strong partnerships with Kanata North businesses, especially so with the CU@Kanata innovation space where faculty, staff and students can engage with more than 540 companies in the park.
